PICTURES OF EUROPE

THORWALD PROBST, ARTIST, TELLS OF TRAVELS FOR ART'S SAKE IN OTHER LANDS

Thorwald Probst, who has studied art in the galleries and schools of Europe, is a resident of Glendale and has many good things to say of the climate of this delightful spot. Mr. Probst has his studio at 1012 Fairview avenue, and has many fine pictures of European scenes there. He traveled in Europe before the war broke out and was fortunate enough to visit the beautiful city of Dresden, one of the most picturesque cities of the old world, before war's alarm made of it an armed camp. The wonderful picture gallery of Dresden opened its charms to him; but still more did the quaint houses and the river appeal to his artistic sense. He has painted several striking scenes on the Elbe and also pictures of some of Dresden's old church towers.

"Munich," as Americans call Muenchen, was another of the old cities visited. The Pinakothek there naturally attracted his taste and there, too, he found other inspiration. The artist went to Scandinavia. In Denmark he found much to interest him in Copenhagen, the capital, and thence he went to Sweden and Norway, where he found a great deal that stirred his artistic feelings.

Through Germany to Italy brought him to Naples, the beautiful, nestling at the foot of Vesuvius as peacefully as in the days of old. There, too, he found opportunity to visit the buried cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii and to gaze in the Pompeiian museum at Naples on the wonderful art of both painter and sculptor in works nineteen centuries old.

No artistic tour is complete without a journey to Rome. "See Rome and die," says the old proverb. Yet to see Rome is to gain new inspiration for life. There gazing on the ancient beauty of the Coliseum, the arch of Titus, the Castle of St. Angelo, one can learn what artistic beauty is—the beauty that lives through the centuries. Further, there, too, one can see the masterpieces of the giants of the old days, Raphael, Michael Angelo, Titian, Tintoretto—the sculptures af the ancients—the Apollo Belvidere, the Laocoon, the Dying Gladiator and others that have wakened the artistic soul throughout the ages of the past.

From Rome Mr. Probst came back to the United States and took up the work of his life. The conditions in Europe are such that it may be years before it will be possible to travel there to advantage. Everything is upset. There is a demand here for native work and the native artist has now a chance. Mr. Probst has opened an exhibition of some of his European pictures in the Kanst Art Gallery, Los Angeles, on South Hill street. His reception at the opening last week was a great success. The exhibition is open and will remain open until Feb. 26. It is free to all and Glendale people visiting Los Angeles this week should take advantage of it to see what a native artist has done to bring the beauties of the European cities home to them.

LODGE NO. 46 I. O. G. T.

Glendale Lodge No. 46, I. O. G. T., will entertain the Ninth District lodge, Tuesday, February 22, beginning at 10 a. m., in the I. O. O. F. hall, corner of Third and Isabel. Beginning at 10 a. m. there will be a short business session and election of officers. There will be an open meeting in the evening to which the public is invited. A special invitation is extended to the Rebekahs.

HENNON WELL QUALIFIED

A. E. Hennon, candidate for city treasurer, is well qualified for the position which he seeks. He attended the State Normal school at Kirksville, Missouri. While a resident of Missouri he taught school five years, three years of that time being in the rural schools and two years in the public schools of Triplet. For fifteen years he has been engaged in mercantile work.

The statement was made in Saturday's Evening News that Mr. Hennon had taught in a kindergarden school. This statement was incorrect.

GARDEN LORE APPEALS

CHILDREN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROF. SCHUFELDT'S LECTURE ON BACK YARDS

Remarkable success attended the free picture entertainment given last Saturday morning by the Glendale Garden society. Five hundred kiddies and grownups listened with great attention to the talk given by Professor Schufeldt, and greeted his beautiful slides with enthusiasm. What Los Angeles can do, Glendale can do; what Glendale can do, Los Angeles can do; and it is the same with every city, large or small. No city is so handicapped that it cannot enthuse its children and its adult citizens to greater efforts and a larger vision.

Especially interesting was the series of slides depicting a lad getting ready his plot of ground for cultivation. First we saw the lad looking at the untouched, rough land. Then we saw him dig the soil, deep and thoroughly he dug it; no superficial work was his, no making fair the surface and neglecting the foundation, deep and thoroughly was his task performed. So it must be in life; whatever we do, we must do well; whatever we undertake must be gone into deep and thoroughly. Next the boy raked the ground, getting rid of rocks and other obstacles. Then he took his line and stakes and proceeded to mark out his trench; no haphazard method was his, no "straight enough," no deviation from the straight line was allowed. Even in digging his trenches, he would act straight. Must we not believe that in learning to prepare a plot of ground, that boy was also learning valuable lessons and habits which would attend him all through life?

Not only from the Garden society, but from every child and parent in Glendale should a vote of thanks be accorded Professor Schufeldt for the great service he has rendered our community. To have seen the eager faces of the children, to have heard after the show was over the many eager inquiries from the youngsters, to see them as they crowded around the officials asking for planting bulletins, for garden diagrams, for manuals of directions, would convince even the most apathetic that a movement has been inaugurated in Glendale which will in time to come have a wonderful effect upon the appearance of the city and upon the patriotism of its future citizens.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. T. C. Horton of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. Rev. Horton is a popular and powerful preacher and his sermon on this occasion fully sustained his reputation. He selected his text from the 8th Chapter of Romans, "There is therefore now no judgment for those who walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit." There are three great and immutable laws, the Law of Sin and Death; the Law of God and the Law of the Spirit of Life. The 3rd chapter of Genesis must be understood by the earnest reader of the Bible for in that great chapter is found the key to the development of the greatest love story that was ever written—the love of God for Man. A chasm occurred there, whether it covered a space of a million years as some scientists claim, or a less period is immaterial—it was bridged over by the Love of God. God had breathed into Adam the Spirit of Life and he walked with Eve in the Garden, unafraid until Satan entered and then followed the Law of Sin and Death. Satan uttered a half truth when he told Eve that she would know Good and Evil, and a half truth is ever worse than a lie—upon half truths are founded the most of the evil doctrines that afflict the world. When Adam and Eve sinned the Scepter of the World passed unto Satan and he has been its ruler ever since. According to the law one lie keeps a man out of heaven forever, unless it is forgiven. There does not live a human being who has not uttered a lie, "There are none righteous, no not one." There is no place on earth for pride, God only accepts the blood offering. The first commandment is "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and all thy soul." God sent His Son with the new law of forgiveness of sins, and as God sent his only Son as a missionary to a sinful world so we must realize that there is no human being that is not worth going after, we must go out into Samaria and all the world with this Gospel.

LOSES BY ONE POINT

"BREAKS" OF BASKETBALL GAME WERE AGAINST GLENDALE

Those who witnessed Saturday night's basketball game saw a curious play of circumstances by which the local team again lost points by the smallest margin. Basketball is a singular game in that respect. Sometimes the chances of the game keep going against the best team and in favor of an inferior combination. Glendale team is undoubtedly a faster team than the Whittier Crescents whom they played Saturday; yet the breaks of the game went against Glendale and in favor of the Crescents.

The game was not a very fast affair. The Crescents lingered over the ball and failed to carry out the game with the dash and brilliancy one expects from a first-class team. Glendale, with all the determination in the world, missed chance after chance, in a most exasperating fashion, and without any fault of their own. The consequence was that at the close of the game the score stood 21 to 21. In playing off the tie the first five minutes added two goals to each score, leaving the result 23 to 23. Another five minutes was played with the result that Whittier made one goal, Glendale none; total, Crescents 24, Glendale 23.

If criticism is to be made of the playing of the Gendale team it is really uncalled for. They play with a vim and dash that should have carried them to victories all along the league games; but they seem to fail in that team work which is essential in basketball. This is almost certainly the result of lack of proper coaching. The teams against which they are competing are all ampiy financed and have coaches to instruct them in the fine points of play and to show their deficiencies. With two such coaches, which all the other teams have, it is possible to get the men together in combination plays and to train them in all the possible situations in the field so that when they come to actual league play they are competent to handle any kind of situation.

All this shows what has been pointed out again and again in these columns—that Glendale basketball team needs the support of the community to give it the facilities that will make it an invincible combination in the league.

The lineup was as usual: Bidwell and Littell, forwards; Taylor, center; Farner and Stone, guards.

The Glendale team goes to Orange Tuesday to play the Orange Athletics, which is another strong team. Glendale should win that game. Friday, Feb. 26, the University of Southern California plays Glendale at Glendale. The local team has beaten the university already and should do so again.

MRS. FARIES HOSTESS

Among the happy occasions on the social calendar of the past week was the "high tea' 'given by Mrs. Harold H. Faries on Saturday evening at their pretty home, 104 North Louise street, followed by a theater party at the Palace Grand.

The oval table was beautiful in a low floral arrangement with ferns and sweet peas in tones of pink, purple and white, which formulated a symphony of dainty coloring.

The guests were members of Mrs. Faries' Sunday School class and included Alice Lockwood, Ethel Cannady, Dorothy Hutchinson, Jeanice West, Elinore Barrows and Josephine Laughlin.

GOLDEN WEDDING

In an attractive setting of yellow acacia, orange blossoms and feathery ferns, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Pearson of 490 West 5th street received their friends informally on Sunday afternoon, February 20, in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

Many congratulatory messages, both in person and by letter, together with gifts, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Pearson in memory of the day.

Receiving with their parents were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Pearson and Mr. I. A. Pearson, other members of the immediate family living in the east.

HIS FIRST OFFENSE

Chris Schlagel of Tropico having looked upon the wine when it was red wandered into the Glendale precincts where he conducted himself in such a manner as to attract the attention of the local police. He was arrested and conveyed to Glendale jail to reflect on the vanity of earthly pleasures. Released on Sunday on bail, Schlagel was bound to appear at Judge Whomes' court Monday. On his appearance he plead guilty and was fined $5. This was his first offense.

TREAT TO WORKERS

H. P. COKER ENTERTAINS EMPLOYES AT THEATER PARTY

Among the enterprising firms of Glendale is the Valley Supply company, which every year entertains its employes in some pleasing fashion. The best of relations exist between the head of the firm, H. P. Coker, and those who assist him in the conduct of his business. The company's custom has always been to give two entertainments a year to its workers. The first function of this nature was a very pleasing banquet some months ago; the one of last week was a theater party.

Since its establishment a number of years ago the Valley Supply company has branched out in many ways, not the least enterprising of which is the erection of a fine ice manufacturing plant. This addition to the company's service turns out 20 tons of ice a day. The ice being made from pure mountain water and being distilled and filtered is a very pure product and also profitable, being turned out at a low temperature.

The employes of the ice plant and of the parent company, to the number of eleven, were entertained by Mr. Coker Thursday night, Feb. 17, at a theater party at the Orpheum. They occupied two boxes and had a most enjoyable time. Those present were:

Wilbert Chandler, J. W. Jones, Bert Kneller, A. Last, Ed Hansen, G. B. Gordon, H. M. Warner, Harry Chandler, A. Harter, William Owen and H. P. Coker, Jr.

Since the ice plant has been turned over from the hands of the experts who have been setting it up it has run in a most satisfactory manner and is regularly turning out its 20 tons a day. Mr. Coker intends to have a formal opening in a few days. The public will be invited to this function and the whole of the interesting plant will be thrown open to their inspection.

A COLONIAL PARTY

POULTRY ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Glendale-Tropico Poultry and Pet Stock association will be held in the city hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 22. An important program has been prepared, the subject of discussion being "Incubation and Brooding," and some of the experts are prepared to impart valuable information on these points. A full attendance is requested. The society is at a critical point in its history. After the successful show held last year members may feel inclined to rest content with their achievements. That means stagnation. Come out and take active part in the work of the society. You will hear a full report of the last show Tuesday night. Don't be absent. This is to be one of the most important meetings of the year. The life of the society depends on the attendance of its members and the interest they take in what is going on. Don't fail to be present.

REPUBLICANS WILL ORGANIZE

There will be a meeting of Republicans of the Sixty-first assembly district at the home of John Robert White, corner Orange and First streets, this, Monday, evening, at 8:00 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a Republican club for the district.

WONDERS OF WAR MEDICAL SCIENCE

Those who know the Greek language know that in the New Testament one of the words translated "miracles" simply means "wonderful works," or "wonders." The significance of the word "miracle" which has grown into it in the Christian church is that of something that is apart from the regular order of the world, a violation of natural law. In reality there is no such signification in the word and the wonders of the modern battlefield surgery and medical science in general are as much "miracles" as those of the early Christian age. In fact, they are such wonderful works that they are often styled miracles in the modern press.

In the Italian service are many very clever surgeons and medical men. They have studied mental suggestion so well that they are able to make the dumb speak and by the power of the will make the lame to walk. Hymnotism and mental suggestion are being successfully employed by the surgeons of the Italian army in helping soldiers who have lost the power of speech to recover that faculty. They are now making experiments to see if they cannot employ that method with equal success on blind soldiers and deaf men. These experiments, however, apply only to cases where the nerves of sight and hearing have not been destroyed.

Among the first successful experiments with dumb soldiers were those made in the military hospital at Ancona. These have since been repeated at Cava dei Tirreni and elsewhere. Dr. Gustav Modena is the originator of the method. In his first successful application Dr. Modena subjected the men to an electrical current and to the mental suggestion that they must speak.

Twenty-four hours were allowed to elapse that the suggestion might have time to work in their minds. The second day the doctor again applied the current and, ordering the patient to look him squarely in the eye, exerted all of his hypnotic will power and commanded him to speak. Almost instantly the man who had been dumb for so long began to mutter inarticulate sounds, with a tremendous effort to form articulate speech. The suggestion being again powerfully made the dumb man's tongue was loosed so far that he began to prattle like an infant and as his powers were again stimulated by further suggestion he left off his childish prattle and from "mamma" and "papa" suddenly matriculated into the full freedom of articulate and sensible speech. Equal success was made with Aquillini, the second patient, and with many others, all of whom were restored to speech and usefulness.

Further experimentation is being made with the blind and deaf and while some measure of success has been attained in certain cases the progress made has not been so great as in the case of lost speech. Naturally there are people who think that all hypnotic power is evil and should not be employed; so there were many worthy but narrow-minded people who were perfectly persuaded in their own minds that the use of chloroform or ether in cases of childbirth was against God's will and that the anesthetic was the creation of the devil.

These things are looked on with different eyes now and so hypnotism is a recognized power in proper hands against many diseases and disabilities. Call it "miracle" if you please. All healing is of God no matter what means are used for that end. It will be remembered that the narrow minded of Christ's time declared that his works of healing were done by Satanic power.

LATEST PHASES OF THE WAR

While there has been considerable desultory fighting in the west, and attacks on both French and British lines and in return on the German lines that have cost large numbers of lives without any adequate gain of territory, the real center of interest in the war is now in the region between Erzeroum and Trebizond. The Russians have struck one of the vital blows of the war by the capture of the strong fortress of Erzeroum and are now marching toward Trebizond. They have also landed another army on the Black sea coast within 70 miles of Trebizond and will join their forces there and endeavor to connect up with the British in Mesopotamia.

This puts a new aspect on the war and will in all probability determine Roumania to come in with the Allies. That of itself is a very important matter. It is probable that Russia will concentrate troops in Bessaraabia so as to allow Roumania to transfer troops to the Bulgarian border. Bulgaria is said to be alarmed and Czar Ferdinand has hastened back to his country, leaving his new friends in the German headquarters and hurrying back to see what this new development may signify.

There seems little doubt that the fall of Erzeroum will necessitate many changes in the disposition of the forces of the Central Powers if they are to offset it in any way. It is stated that neither Germany nor Austria can spare any troops for the fighting that is likely to ensue on the Bulgarian border. Bulgaria will need to defend her territory alone. It is even hinted that Czar Ferdinand will try to negotiate a separate peace independently of the Teutons. Such a report is, to say the least, premature, as nothing has happened as yet to imperil Bulgaria to such an extent, although those who profess to be able to see ten moves ahead on the checkerboard of war say that the downfall of Ferdinand is inevitable.

What is interesting this country most of all at present is the proposal of the Germans or rather their intimation of their determination to sink without warning all armed merchantmen regardless of whether or not neutral passengers are on board. The world may expect to hear before long of the sinking of one of the big liners as the Germans are evidently determined to carry out their plan regardless of what effect it may have. There is no doubt that German violations of the rules of civilized warfare are having the very opposite effect from what they might be expected to have.

What concerns this country in this matter of sinking armed merchantmen is that the right of merchantmen to go armed for defense is one of the oldest rights of the sea and it has been upheld at all times by the United States. American diplomatic and consular officers in every part of the world, at this time, have been notified in a circular from the State department that the United States stands by the right of merchantmen to carry arms for defensive purposes. It is understood that the United States has informed Germany that it holds that country's determination to sink armed merchantmen without warning inconsistent with its assurances in former cases. This undoubtedly constitutes a serious condition between Germany and the United States.

Sweden is the latest country to fall under the spell of Teuton intrigue. The plans of Sweden, however, are aimed against Russia. It has therefore so far lent itself to German wishes as to prohibit the transportation along Swedish territorial waters of all goods that are forbidden to be exported from Sweden. This is a direct blow against Denmark, the merchants of which country have been supplying Russia with goods. It will make the Baltic still more a closed sea than it has hitherto been; and to Sweden's great ultimate regret may result in German control of the Baltic traffic.

Personals

Thursday evening, March 2, is the date chosen by the Elks lodge of Glendale for the Benefit Building Fund "all-star" vaudeville show.

Friends from Los Angeles enjoyed the hospitality of the Geo. Daniels, in their home at 300 South Central avenue, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Spalding of 314 Central avenue spent the week-end with friends at Santa Ana and Orange.

Mr. Eugene Glane, a prominent business man of Glendale, is reported as improving in health. Mr. Glane is still confined in the Altadena Sanitarium.

Mr. Wm. Sawyer of 311 South Central avenue, returned Saturday morning, after a delightful visit of two months' duration with his mother in Norfolk, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Justema and son Billy, residing at 304 South Central avenue, motored with friends to Riverside and Redlands on Sunday, stopping at the Glenwood Inn for luncheon.

Following an absence of four months, looking after business interests in Imperial Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wood, Sr., returned to their home, 1420 West Broadway, Saturday afternoon.

On Tuesday, February 22, from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock, Mrs. Westlake and Mrs. Pixley will be hostesses to members of the West Glendale M. E. church and any of their friends, at a Washington's Birthday Tea, to be held in the Chapel.

Mrs. Cecil Shaver, a former resident of Glendale, now residing in Bakersfield, motored down with a party of friends, arriving here Sunday, and is a guest in the Geo. B. Woodberry home, 419 Glendale avenue. The motorist will return Tuesday. Leaving with them is Miss Anna Woodberry, who will be domiciled in the Shaver home during her stay in the northern city.

Miss Amy Bowerfind, Mrs. L. Brown, Miss Edna Brown, and Miss Alice Bondy were guests of Miss Marie Bondy, at Universal City, last Saturday, where they spent a very pleasant afternoon. Miss Bondy introduced her visitors to her many film friends and the party had lunch at Universal City cafeteria with some of their new acquaintances and at the close of the day motored home.

NEW AUTOMOBILE AGENCY

The local agency for the new famous "Chalmers" 3400 RPM. Light Six has just been established with A. Meyer, the well-known local Overland agent. Before assuming the agency for this car, Mr. Meyer went into the matter very thoroughly, and had the car demonstrated to him in some very hard and severe tests, and was greatly surprised and pleased at the wonderful power, flexibility, and easy riding qualities which this car posseses. Its wonderful getaway, and acceleration are some of the points which impressed Mr. Meyer favorably, as it was demonstrated to him that from two or three miles an hour it would "pick-up" to fifty in a remarkably quick period. It's flexibility was shown by a demonstration in leaving Glendale, traveling through Los Angeles traffic district, over hills that many cars could not negotiate without changing gears, and throughout the entire trip the car was left in "high," and the car is absolutely free from vibration, whether traveling at two miles an hour or sixty.

After driving the car and seeing how easily it was handled and proving to himself that the car was without any doubt the very best value on the market today at the price, Mr. Meyer decided that the car would without doubt meet with the buying public's approval and took the agency for it, and now has a demonstrator which he will be very glad to show and demonstrate to anyone so desiring.

MATRIMONIAL DYSPEPSIA

"Well, how do you like married life" inquired the friend.

"Not at all," replied the man who had married money and was suffering for it. "I'm a case of matrimonial dyspepsia."

"Matrimonial dyspepsia?"

"Yes. She never agrees with me. She's too rich."

TAKING NO CHANCES

Ain't you rather young to be left in charge of a drug store?"

"Perhaps; what can I do for you?"

"Do your employers know it's dangerous to leave a mere boy like you in charge of such a place?"

"I am competent to serve you, madam."

"Don't you know you might poison some one?"

"There is no danger of that, madam; what can I do for you?"

"Think I had better go to the store down the street?"

"I can serve you just as well as they can and as cheaply."

"Well, you may give me a two-cent stamp, but it doesn't look right." —Toronto Mail and Empire.

WEATHER FORECAST — Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; probably showers; northeast winds.

TROPICO

N. P. Banks Post and Corps celebrated the birthdays of Washington, Lincoln and McKinley, Feb. 20, 2:30 p. m., in their hall on Glendale avenue, and, although the numbers in attendance were not what were ardently hoped for, the meeting was a glorious, patriotic one, and the talks were redolent with heart-burning truths in regard to the lives of these noble patriots; talks that had force to quicken the pulses of the young, and cause them to wish to emulate in some degree, the lessons taught by their lives.

Comrade Gibbons spoke eloquently on George Washington, his life, duties and aid given to our nation, when it was striving for an independence, which through his wisdom and foresight was attained, and which with the assistance of the many noble men who came after him have preserved that independence for more than a century and a quarter.

Rev. J. H. Henry gave a pleasing address on the life of Lincoln—the man, whose life as a boy, a man, a martyr, has given to men, women and children of America the noblest example of holiness since our Savior walked the earth. Comrade Parker of Glendale also paid tribute to the character of Lincoln, who won the love and admiration of the whole world.

Rev. Thompson, who was a friend and associate of William B. McKinley, spoke words of eulogy of this other patriot and martyr to the cause of freedom and loyalty; spoke, in words of personal knowledge, of the noble life work done by McKinley and of his death that saddened the hearts not only of our nation but of the entire world, for such men sweeten life on this mundane sphere, and leaven the bread of greed and avarice.

Rev. D. D. Cheney and others paid eloquent tribute to McKinley, and all together made the meeting very interesting and instructive.

AN AFFAIR OF DELIGHT

The spirit of merriment and music hovered over the delightful affair given Saturday evening in the Keller School of Dancing, when Mrs. Jack Boettner of 1228 West 9th street and Miss Lillian Armstrong of Hotel Glencoe, Los Angeles, entertained about sixty of their friends at dancing. The flowering acacia used in profusion adorned the spacious room where the dancers tripped the light fantastics; the dining room decorations were effectively carried out in red, which predominated; the shaded candles and crisp tulle of the same shade gave an individual touch of beauty to the table from which a bountiful buffet supper was served. Chinese lanterns lighted the grounds and attractive pergola, where the inviting punch table stood.

Miss Armstrong was bewitching in a gown of opal blue satin with silver hair band and Mrs. Boettner was stunningly bowned in peach satin with white lace and black silk net.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. P. Mac Nish, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Capron, the E. F. Smiths, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bachman, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fairchild, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duffield, the Geo. Otis, Mrs. Pearl Keller, Mrs. E. Chapman, Mrs. L. Barber, Mrs. Hershey, Mrs. Eula Smith, the Misses Sheckles, Smith, Erma Hershey, Dora Boettner, Gertrude Braum, Harriet Wells, Hillian Hill, Jackie Powers, Ford, Irene Myers, Dorothy Leech, Lucia McGarry, Doris Kitchner, the Messrs. Ray Huntling, Stone, Russell Briggs, Gus Engles, Jack Gardner, Lewis, R. Boettner, Miner, C. C. Bancroft, John Fanset, Carl Richter, Chas. Wells, Harry Goodwin, K. Lunt, E. H. Pickering, Stanley, McKittrick, Harry Glazier, J. Hart, Bruce, H. Raffmunsen, McLaughlin, Leon Bachmann and Hal Kitchner.

T. H. Maxwell of Los Angeles presided at the piano.

LOCAL TRACK TEAM

Now that the basketball season is drawing to a close it is felt that something is necessary for the keeping of the name of Glendale before the public in the domain of athletics. This city has always been able to send to the various athletic meets athletics who in some department or other have managed to come out at the top.

Dwight Woods, for instance, of Orange street, who is credited with having won the 100 yards dash at the Stanford-U. S. C. meet, in 10 seconds. Another Glendale High School boy, Richard Stein, is credited with being an expert at the low hurdles over the 220-yard course. Then there is Monroe Walton, who holds the Southern California intercollegiate record for the half-mile, which he did in 2 minutes and 3-5 seconds.

There are others who, while not having secured any leading records, only need training and coaching to bring them to the front. There is much excellent material in the rising High School generation, in all aspects of athletics, and a very strong track team could be got together.

There is much excellent material in the present basketball team, of which Hastings Bidwell himself is no small part. In the high jump it would be hard to beat him. This matter is now under consideration and those interested in it should communicate with Dr. Stone of the basketball team. The track season is at hand and there is no time to be lost.

The general public, absolutely free of any charges whatsoever, is bidden as special guests by the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club, so come and hear this interesting and instructive lecture.

WHY INDIANS USE SIGNS

"It is a common notion that the plains Indians use the sign language because their spoken languages are narrow and inadequate," writes W. S. Campbell, in the Indian School Journal. "This is a mistake. Many of their languages are very complete and complicated, with grammars that would make a Greek scholar dizzy. Some of the languages—like the Arapaho—have never been mastered by any white man."

Mr. Campbell then goes on to explain how it was that the sign language came to be so much used among Indians. "There were some 30 tribes in or adjacent to the plains, and continually roaming about and meeting each other. . . . They held councils together, they traded, and they hunted in company. Although some of their languages were related, the members of one tribe could not easily understand even their related languages. So a system of signs grew up and spread throughout this region. When the horse was introduced by the Spaniards, the Indians could and did travel great distances and met strangers everywhere. The sign language grew and developed until it is now capable of expressing almost anything that can be said in words.

"Anyone who understands this language can talk with any tribe from Canada to Mexico—from Missouri to the Rockies—except those civilized tribes which cames to the plains from other parts of the country.

"The signs stand for ideas, not words. 'Man' is represented by the forefinger held upright. . . . 'Buffalo' is indicated by holding the fingers crooked beside the head to represent the horns. A white man is represented by placing the hand across the forehead so as to shade the eyes, thus making one think of the hat brim, which no Indian wore in old times. A stone is represented by striking the right fist into the left palm. Many of these old signs are interesting as showing how they grew up. A camp is a 'sit down,' for wherever the Indian sat down was 'home, sweet home' to him. In asking where an Indian lives, in sign, you must say literally, 'Where is your sit down?' The sign for water was formerly made by holding the cupped hand to the lips, as though drinking. Today it is changed, and a cup is represented by placing the thumbs and forefingers, tip to tip, so as to form a ring. This shows how the white man's cup has supplanted nature's method of drinking. There are thousands of these signs, and they are all different. But they are so expressive that a white man can often tell what is meant without knowing anything about the language. In common use they are abbreviated, and ideas can be communicated much more quickly in signs than in spoken words. The quickness of this language is so great that often Indians of the same tribe prefer it to the spoken word. This habit of theirs has led some people to suppose that the spoken language was incomplete."

LECTURE ON WAGNER OPERAS

Dr. Clement Burbank Shaw was gratified with an audience at the Congregational church Sunday night that not only filled the house but also gave evidence of a sympathetic intelligence concerning the lecture itself. Wagner is a subject that might not be expected to appeal to a general audience, but under Dr. Shaw's clever treatment the meaning and beauty of the opera of Parsifal, the last and perhaps the greatest of the whole Wagnerian series was made manifest. The Parsifal music is not what would be called "popular." It has nothing in common with the syncopated discords that masquerade as music for the multitude. Those who wish to understand "Parsifal" must bring to the study of the great opera a sympathetic musical nature and some degree of musical knowledge. Only thus can its wonderful language be understood.

Dr. Shaw had the advantage of having a beautiful English version of the opera translated by himself. The language was smooth and consonant to the theme. Miss Mary Ashhurst as the pianist showed great power of interpretation and Thomas Askin sang in a pure and rich baritone voice the several numbers from the opera.

Dr. Shaw will lecture tonight on "Lohengrin," in the Congregational church. The lecture will begin at 8 p. m. and should attract all who are lovers of the Wagnerian idea. The stereopticon views exhibited last night are appropriate and many of them were made in Bayreuth, the home of the Wagnerian opera.

EAGLE ROCK

An interclass track and field meet of Occidental college was held last Saturday afternoon on the old Occidental grounds. It is thought by many that the freshmen and the sophomore classes are the strongest ones.

News was received last week announcing the passing away of Mr. I. Wichard at his late home near Mirietta, Cal. Mr. Wichard was one of Eagle Rock's pioneer residents, having resided here for almost thirty years, up to about a year ago when he and family moved to the late home. He was past 80 years of age and besides his wife he leaves several children.

The Ladies' Aid and the Missionary Society met at Mrs. Meredith's beautiful home on North Highland avenue last Thursday afternoon. A speaker from Los Angeles was present and addressed them on different phases of missionary work. Miss Olive Adella Moe favored with a ukelele solo, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

A number of young people from our city attended the Epworth league rally last Friday evening at Glendale and report having had a very delightful time.

It has been announced by Frederick Barber, director general of the campaign, that every team that raises $5000 in the Occidental college $1,000,000 campaign is entitled to choose a nominee for a four-year scholarship in Occidental college. Not only will every team that raises $5000 in the campaign be entitled to choose a scholarship nominee, but every team is entitled to choose an additional nominee for each additional $5000 which it raises. These scholarships are to be non-transferable as far as the nominee is concerned and if the first nominee is unable to matriculate the team has the privilege of naming a substitute. The only restriction to this offer is that the nominee be able to meet with the college requirements.

Friends and acquaintances of the I. H. Bowers were surprised to learn of Mr.Bower's death at his home in Abefdeen, Washington. They are quite well known here, having resided on College View avenue for nearly a year until just a few months ago when they returned to Washington.

A number of former Illinoisans from this city attended the Illinois state picnic held Saturday at Long Beach. They all reported having had such a delightful time and the only drawback was that the beautiful day seemed altogether too short, as time flew so quickly.

To keep the public informed of how the campaign is progressing two sixty foot clocks were placed on downtown buildings and one in Pasadena. LITTLELANDS

One of the most interesting and entertaining parties for the younger social set of Littlelands was given on Saturday evening, Feb. 5, 1916, at the home of Miss Louise McClement, on Los Angeles street. The affair was in the nature of a "Nut" party and only members of the "Nut Special," the auto stage which carries the students attending Glendale High School to the car line each day, were the guests. Miss McClement, Miss Edna Mae Van Battum and Miss Alice Green were the hostesses of the evening.

Various new games furnished the entertainment of the evening, at the close of which delicious "nutty" refreshments were served by Mrs. McClement. The guests voted the party a delightful success and the hostesses ideal entertainers.

The Bazaar a Success

The bazaar was a success from every point of view. There was a large crowd present. The band was at its best. All the booths sold out their contents. The ice cream booth could probably have sold twice what was provided. The post office booth did a good business. The fortune teller was an attractive gipsy maiden whose local identity was not discovered by some people till the close of the evening. Miss Virginia Sanborne makes a very handsome gipsy.

The pantomime representing Cinderella, given by the Littlelands school children, was especially good. A solo by Mr. Robert Best, two piccolo solos by Miss Dorothy Maygrove and several solos by Mr. George Osborne, also a vocal duet by Gladys Maygrove and Grace Greenfield and some special music by the band, were most heartily encored by an appreciative audience. The Japanese tea garden was a popular resort as was also the ice cream and candy booths. Bee Club

Nine members of the Bee club went last Monday morning on a trip by auto to the bee ranch of Mr. Charles Metcalf near La Crescenta. They found Mr. Metcalf at work in his apiary. However, he very good naturedly ceased his toil for about two hours to initiate his guests into the mysteries of bee culture. The men of the party learned many things about the construction of hives and other paraphernalia necessary to their cult. Every one was thoroughly interested when Mr. Metcalf opened up several hives so that those present might see the bees at work and become familiar with the different stages of bee life and industry. Several of the members of the club left orders for the purchase of complete hives and all are expecting to embark in the business this spring, so that by another year it is hoped that the Bee club will not only have honey to supply their own needs, but that the needs of the local market may also be met.

Miss Hilda E. Kuenzel

Sunday night about 12 o'clock occurred the death of Miss Hilda E. Kuenzel. She had been in Littlelands for about two months and occupied the house of Miss Sullivan on San Ysidro road. She was so ill when she arrived that she immediately required the care of a nurse. Her case is peculiarly sad, for she was very young and all alone in the world, her parents having preceded her in death, her father only recently. Miss Kuenzel came to Littlelands hoping that the mountain air might prove a panacea for her sickness which began with pneumonia. Many complications resulted from which she could not rally. All that care and attention could do were given her by Mrs. Colburn who was her nurse and who staid with her to the end, making all arrangements according to Miss Kuenzel's wishes for the funeral, which took place Tuesday from Pierce Bros.' Undertaking Establishment, Los Angeles. It was the desire of Miss Kuenzel to have her body cremated and the ashes placed with those of her parents in the tomb at Rosedale cemetery, all of which was completely carried out under the direction of Mrs. Colburn. Miss Kuenzel owned some property in Littlelands, but her home was at Santa Monica.

Town Meeting

Very little business was transacted at the town meeting Tuesday evening. The report of the co-ordination committee was read for the second time and after a great deal of discussion which caused considerable merriment the report was laid on the table for one week.

Home Croft Club

Friday evening Mr. Ashley began the program by giving a short talk on preparedness. He spoke of the view the yellow race takes of the white race. While we consider them and often speak of them as the yellow peril, they on the other hand cal' the white race the white peril and are as apprehensive of us as we are of them. After a song by the audience Mr. Maxwell took the floor. He prefaced his remarks by saying he hoped the Home Croft organization would soon reach the point where it would be independent of his talks. He read a beautiful poem entitled "Where Mother Is."

Mr. Maxwell spoke of the immutable laws of God. We live because we have learned to live in harmony with forces which, if we did not know how to harmonize with, would cause us to cease to exist. Out of the greatest perils human character is developed. Sorrow and tribulation develop sympathy and charity. Suffering does good if it acts as a stimulus. There is a great law of compensation, a great law of cause and effect. The moment efforts become unnecessary that quickly the individual goes backward. Conditions of life that require no great exertion cause a man or a nation to go down, for the stimulus to effort is wanting. We may not be rich in money, but we are rich in many things that money cannot buy. But the power that rules this nation is the money power without regard to political power. There are people who would sell the souls of their fellows for money. There are men who are glad that there is a great war because of the money it puts into their coffers because they furnish the munitions of war. For men who pursue ideals that are misdirected or wrong there is a great day of reckoning. If England had not so greatly lost sight of the necessity of looking out for the individual welfare of her people, Germany would never have thought of attacking her.

This might be a model for all communities if the people here had the inspiration and the idea in their hearts that they would do the things necessary for the betterment of the individual and of the community and live the best we know how. More than 60 per cent of all human effort is wasted because misdirected.

The report of the co-ordination committee was read and some exception was taken to the scope covered by the report, which was referred back to the town meeting. The matter of menus was brought up by Mrs. Miles, her idea being to develop a Littlelands cook book comprising menus and recipes of the women of the colony.

ATTRACTIVE LIVING-ROOM

One of the most charming living-rooms was a bright, sunshiny one, with a floor covered with a neutral gray filler carpet, over which were scattered three handsome oriental rugs, says the Philadephia North American. The walls were in plain old blue, the woodwork white. The dull brick fireplace, with the white over-mantel and the built-in bookshelves, were quite noticeable features in the room and decidely helped the colonial furniture. For there was a mahogany gateleg table in the center of the room, a Windsor armchair and a Sheraton wall chair with a rush seat A huge wing armchair upholstered in rose-and-blue chintz was drawn up to the fireplace, and seemed to dominate the room. The chintz was repeated in side drapes at the windows. And the beauty of it is that a room like this is within the reach of almost anyone!

SUPPER FIRST

Little children under 6 are hard to entertain. They are generally restless and shy, and do not know how to enter into games as quickly as when they are older. One of the best ways I have found to overcome this shyness and reserve is to have the "goodies" first. After all the little ones have come to the party, usher them into the dining room, and bring on the birthday cake, the ice cream, popcorn balls and candy. One may then stand back and see their little cheeks flush, their eyes widen with delight, and their joy burst forth. When they have eaten their fill and received the little favors dear to their childish hearts, they are ready for the peanut hunt, the merry romp and the other jolly games.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

A large and interested congregation filled the First Congregational church on Sunday morning. The service was rather unusual as the "heads" of the different branches told of the work in their departments. Mrs. W. D. McRae spoke on the Missionary work for women. Miss Calla Porter, the Woman's Auxiliary, and Mrs. Clyde Brooks on the personal work which was inspiring and helpful. Rev. Willisford addressed the men of the congregation on the "Importance of Personal Work."
